Caldwell--Bacot.

(The Columbia State, Nov. 19.)

A wedding took place in Charleston lately which was of interest to Columbia, as both parties had lived in our city for some years, though not at the period.

These are Mr. Richard Caldwell and Miss Eunice Bacot. Mr. Caldwell is bookkeeper of the Louis Cohen Co., Charleston.

Miss Bacot is an intelligent, attractive woman, until recently one of the young teachers in the educational corps of South Carolina. The wedding was solemnized in the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gantt, No. 17 Judith street, Charleston, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The room were bright and sweet with flowers, white and green being the prevailing hues.

At the appointed hour Rev. D. M. McIver of Westminster church took his station in the center of the room, and to the rhythm of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Virginia Douglas, the bridal procession entered the parlor with little Annie Gantt at the head. She wore an empire dress of white organdie profusely trimmed with narrow ribbons in graceful loops, and on a white satin cushion bore the faithful ring.

Misses Lila Gantt and Gladys Tupper, maids of honor, came next, festal in white silk mull and white ribbons and bearing pretty baskets of flowers to strew with rose leaves the path of the bridal pair.

Miss Gabrielle Tupper of New York and Miss Virginia Caldwell of Charleston were the bridesmaids, very distinguished in stylish white suits and white hats with black plumes; the toilet being finished with long, black gloves.

Mrs. James B. Evans, dame of honor, wore black silk and net tastefully combined, and black hat and feathers.

Arm and arm with Mrs. Evans walked the bride, daintily in a suit of blue; stylish skirt, modish blue silk waist, chic blue hat and veil, crested with blue wings. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She was joined by her bridegroom and a revered ceremony stilled the gay company and impressed the participants in the bridal group.

After congratulations in the present, and good wishes for their future happiness, the inviting dining room arranged according to the bride's wish. Here at large and in detail were seen her favorite colors, green and white. Four broad bands of green ribbon veiled in misty lace, dropped from the chandelier to the table. White flowers and green foliage were tastefully used. The salad was served on broad green leaves, the cakes were dispensed in white and green iced pairs and the bouquets also wore their lady's livery. On departing each guest was given a dainty box of wedding cake, the white and green being finally seen in the little spray of orange blossoms tied on the top with white ribbons.

Among the guests were many representatives of the Bacot and Caldwell family of Charleston. Some of those from outside were: The bride's mother, Mrs. Pierre Bacot, and her aunt, Miss Margaret Aiken from Winnsboro; the bride's sister, Mrs. Stoll of Greenville; Mr. A. M. Aiken of Laurens; Mrs. A. K. Aiken of Laurens; Miss Edith Aiken of New Orleans; Mrs. Huger of Anniston, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell took the afternoon train for Savannah and since their recent return are at home, at 284 Meeting street.

Nothing will cure indigestion that doesn't digest the food itself, and give the stomach rest. You wouldn't expect a sick horse to get well when it is compelled to do a full day's work every day of the week. Kodol Dyspepsia cure is a perfect digestant, and digests the food regardless of the condition of your stomach. Relieves indigestion, Belching, Sour Stomach, and all stomach disorders. A FAIRFIELD WEDDING.

Mr. W. M. Mobley and Miss Gussie Lyles Married in Columbia--All the Attendants From Fairfield.

A recent wedding attended by many pretty details was that of Miss Gussie Mae Lyles and Mr. William McCrorey Mobley, which took place at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church. The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Pauline Stein. The ushers, Messrs. Francis Marion Mobley, Samuel MacLarkin Estes, Robert Hawthorne McCrorey and Mose Hill Mobley, walked two and two, and were met at the front of the church by the bridesmaids, four dainty girls dressed in soft white silk and carrying bouquets of white carnations, who descended the pulpit steps and, crossing to opposite sides, formed a pretty group. They were Miss Rebecca Woodward Lyles, Miss Nan McCrorey Mobley, Miss Julia Andrews and Miss Bessie Evans Wallace.

The dame of honor, Mrs. James M. Mobley, the bride's sister, wore a lovely gown of white silk with elaborate designs of Valenciennes lace and carried white carnations. She entered alone, immediately preceding the bride, who entered with Mr. James M. Mobley. Her wedding gown of soft white Japanese silk, and the filmy wedding veil, exactly suited her fair, delicate type of beauty and made her the ideal picture of a bride. She carried an exquisite shower bouquet of brides' roses and maidenhair ferns. The groom entered from the side door, attended by his brother, Mr. James McCrorey Mobley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Wilkins, junior pastor of the First Baptist church. An informal reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Mobley on Pickett street. The house was prettily decorated, the colors green and white, which had been used at the church, being repeated in every detail. It was an interesting fact, noted by a number of people present, that everybody present was, without a single exception, from Fairfield county. The two families, Lyles and Mobley, were among the very earliest settlers there, and have for more than a century and a half been among the most prominent and prosperous people of that section. Young Mr. Mobley, the bridegroom, has a responsible position as one of the chief operators at the union station, and he and his young bride will make their home in Columbia when they return from their wedding trip. —The State, Nov. 26.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At McMaster Co., Obeard Drug Co. and John H. McMaster & Co., druggists, guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Some Coming Elections.

When the legislature convenes a chief justice, six circuit judges and one or two dispensary directors are to be elected. It is easy to predict which election will cause the most "wire pulling." The judgeships carry much honor and little pay, comparatively speaking, while a dispensary directorship carries no honor and much pay. —Edgefield Advertiser.

Tom Lawson says his really surprising statements will be made in his last article on "finzied finance." It will be a surprise if he ever admits that he has a last article. —Washington Post.

For Fun.

There are a good many diversions that beat ringing and ringing the phone or trotting to the depot time and again to see if those goods ordered 10, 20 or 30 days ago have come. This kind of business worry puts a man so much out of patience that he misses a lot of the fun that belongs to him and that he should dispense to his friends and family. It will add greatly to the enjoyment of life for the merchants of Winnsboro for them to buy their
